18 Out For Jr. Football

SOUTH BAY—Eighteen boys turned out for junior football Monday, including Albert Oyster, Billy Champion, Jim Challenor, Butch Marshall, Roger Walker, Michael Roberts, Butch Davis, Carlos Sloan, Claude Robertson, Ray Tyler, James Kersey, Billy Brown, Eugene Challenor, Jimmy Mathis, Danny Willis, Billy Mann, Wendell Rhodes, and Johnnie Willis.

Changes in the football set-up this year will provide for a more uniform program. Instead of the junior team in Belle Glade, which included South Bay boys, the new program calls for league consisting of four teams, three of which will be in Belle Glade and one in South Bay.

The local team will be supported by the Junior Touch-down Club. A committee, composed of two representatives from each civic and veterans organization in the South Bay school district, held their first organizational meeting on Wednesday evening. To be eligible for the team, boys must be at least 11 years old and must not reach the age of 14 before next Aug. 1. They must be pupils in either the 6th, 7th or 8th grades.

BLOOD NEEDED FOR JIM SEAY

PAHOKEE — An urgent call for blood for critically ill James E. Seay was issued this week by American Legion Post 90, with volunteers to leave from Legion hall tomorrow at 11 a. m. to give their blood.

Seay, who was transferred Tuesday from St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach to Central Glades Veterans' Hospital, underwent brain surgery last week.

Ten pints of blood are needed to replace that already given him at St. Mary's, Legionnaires said. Volunteers are asked to call Melvin Pugh, Paul Collier, Webb Pell, or A. E. Early, or to meet at the Legion hall tomorrow to go with the group to give blood.

Devils Finally Take Clewiston

PAHOKEE — The Blue Devils finally clawed back at the Clewiston Tigers last week, and tonight will move on to take on the Pompano Beanypickers on the coast.

After three straight years of losing to Clewiston in the season's opening game, including last year when it was the only one of 10 games played lost, the Devils made the grade 14-7 last Friday at Lair Field.

Coach Webb Pell's gridders were behind 7-0 the half, before the sellout crowd of more than 2,000. But in the third quarter, newcomer Fullback Weldon Cardin took the ball on two runs to the 47, and then the Devils went to Clewiston's 37 on a fumble.

Turberville and Chat Clark teamed on a pass taken over by Clark, and Cardin ran the extra point, tying the score. On another Clark maneuver in the fourth quarter, when he intercepted a Clewiston pass on the 22, he ran to the 39. Turberville and Clark teamed for the five for the TD. Turberville smashed in for the 14th point.

Clewiston made an almost desperate passing attack, but still had five yards to go when the whistle blew.

NEW CALL FOR BIDS FOR HEALTH CENTER

Modification of plans and a new call for bids for a health center at Pahokee was ordered this week by the County Commission.

Last week the commission received two bids on the project both of them exceeding the amount of the construction fund. The health center is being built with city, county and federal funds.

BY WIN PENDLETON
DEAD DUCK: The helicopter school is dead. Last official word says that the matter is being given "further study." But, really, it has been scratched off the list—reason: this is one of the cuts that the Department of Defense claims they are being forced to make in order to balance the Eisenhower budget for next year. Earlier this year, the Army decided to set up a special school to train helicopter pilots. The school was to be let out on a private contract with the provision that it be within 500 miles of Camp Rucker, Ala. Two of the three approved sites for the school were in Florida—DeLand and DeLand. But, before the final decision as to which one would get the school, the whole plan was tossed out the window by the Pentagon.

SOME CELEBRATION: Even Sam Rayburn is coming all the way from Texas to be here. He will be the biggest all day barbecue ever staged in Graceville. The event? Bob Sikes' Appreciation Day. The folks in Jackson County already have shown how much they appreciate their Congressman by giving him one of the most enviable votes in the history. During the past 10 years, Sikes has received an average of 92% of their votes. For 15 consecutive years he has represented them, and now the whole town is "bustin' out" to show how much they love him. Stoney Edwards, the Quincy, most famous barbecue artist in those parts, will be in charge of the pits; bands will play; all sorts of athletic contests will be held; (probably a few street fights) and speeches, speeches, speeches. After hearing some of the advance plans for this bawling shindig, our only regret is that we haven't been given an (expense paid) invitation to be there.

WATCH THIS ONE: If the Democrats in Florida's First Congressional District are successful in unseating Bill Cramer, they will have the satisfaction of knowing that they whipped one of the hardest working and busiest young men in Congress. And because of his hard work, they might wake up suddenly to find they can't catch him much less beat him.

Latest score for Cramer is the scheduled visit of Vice President Richard Nixon to Tampa and St. Petersburg. When it was announced that the vice president would speak at the American Legion Convention in Miami on Oct. 13, Cramer lost no time in pulling strings to have him stop by Tampa and St. Petersburg next day on his way home. It took a little doing, but the Republicans are proud of their only Florida senator, and Nixon agreed. Plans are for him to fly over Tampa Bay (an inspection of harbor facilities) and a speech at the Tampa Centennial Celebration. Then, that night Cramer hopes to have him speak at a huge rally at the ball park in St. Petersburg, and any other side stunts that can be figured out between now and the 14th. Even though Nixon is a Republican, a vice president is a vice president and when they come to town, they make news.

Another Cramer "gimmick" is the way he is visiting the small towns of his district. He announces ahead of time just when he will be available at the local post office for personal interviews with people with prob-

Cattle Production 38% Higher Than 30 Years Ago

BY SPUDS JOHNSON
Ag. News Service

Production per man is not the only thing going up. Beef production per cow now is 38 percent higher than it was 30 years ago, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. A study by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, reveals that today's cattle are over a third more productive than their ancestors of 30 years ago.

In 1924 each cow on a farm at the beginning of the year produced 339 pounds live weight of calves and calves. This was 146 pounds more than the average for 1924. While these are national averages, there has been an obvious increase in productivity of Florida cattle, as well as in numbers.

While Florida still is not primarily a feeding state, cattle are now finished on grain both here and elsewhere. Recent feeder calf sales in this state have attested to this. Cattle are being fed in the Southeast. Average U.S. carcass weight at slaughter has risen from 474 pounds in 1920-24 to 511 pounds in 1950-54.

Florida's cattle herds have come a long way towards the front in the last 30 years. They still have considerable room for improvement, however, and this, too, can be expected from year to year.

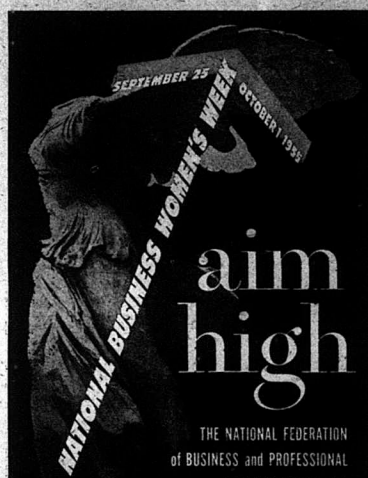

lems. Then, on the appointed day, he arrives with his complete office, set up in a trailer. With the trailer office is Charlie Batchelder, his administrative assistant and public relations man and Hazel Kennedy, a secretary and Jack Inasco, a clerk. His schedule calls for him to visit more than a hundred post offices with his Congressional mobile unit and while the Democrats are bickering over a possible candidate—Cramer's campaign already is in high gear.

MORE ABOUT HOLLAND: When the Young Democrats held their big meeting in Ft. Lauderdale this weekend, the state Democratic executive committee also will convene there. When the question comes up it will be interesting to see who goes along with the idea of putting Senator Holland up as Florida's favorite son for President at the Democratic convention next year. Wise heads think it's a good idea. Watch for some of his political snipers to try to kill the idea.

FLORIDA'S WATER TABLE: Congressman Billy Matthews is back from a tour of five western states where he looked over the farmers' water problems. He was with the Forestry Subcommittee of the Agriculture Committee.

Immediate result of his trip is a plan to hold hearings on Sept. 29 in Columbia, Hanover and Suwanee counties to talk about water problems. The Congressman wants to establish a far-sighted plan to protect the water of the Suwanee river against the time when water will be scarce. "It's no secret that Florida's water table is falling every year," he explained, "and I think now is the time to begin thinking of how to use the waters of the Suwanee River to irrigate the farms in the area where it flows."

Present at the hearings will be representatives from the U.S. Army Engineers, county agents, members of state conservation groups, and various state officials. "We in Florida are blessed with plenty of water," Matthews said, "and I hope that this will always be so. We will be available at the local post office for personal interviews with people with prob-

Refrigerators in Spotlight . . . Color, Many Conveniences Added

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

The lady of the house who hasn't found the electric household refrigerator for her choice hasn't been out shopping lately. For a visit to the electric appliance stores in her community will provide as wide a variety of sizes, convenience features and still others revolve. In a few cases, shelves may even be removed to double as serving trays. Other special features include cold water, receptacles and faucets for instant hot water and for filling ice cube trays without removing them. There also are models available with "juice fountain" which enable users to mix juice concentrates under pressure without a cold water supply.

AND ON THE FARMSTEAD TOO—refrigeration plays important part in preserving food products. Here is a farmer moving a can of milk out of his walk-in cooler.

and color combinations as she could possibly imagine. Today's refrigerators range in size from a cubic foot under-the-counter models to 15 cubic foot double door units. They are equipped with automatic or semi-automatic defrosters. Exterior finishes include stainless steel, copper and fabric, and color combinations vary from white exteriors with tinted interiors and trim to pastel shades throughout. Nearly all new electric refrigerators have frozen food compartments, with some located across the top of the cabinet and others across the bottom. There are combination refrigerators and freezers so ingeniously engineered as to keep temperatures of each at desired levels. Manufacturers also have taken a "new look" at such things as shelves. Some shelves swing out others roll sure with the proper amount of pre-cooled water. Those who want to redesign their kitchen work areas to have separate electric cooking and oven units will find similar refrigerator and freezer units available. These units may be located above counters or in any other convenient place. Essentially, however, electric refrigerators do the same kind of satisfactory food preservation job they always have done. Nutritionists have said that the only safe way to keep food healthful is to store it at temperatures which are below those at which bacteria grows. Although food spoilage is most prevalent in the summer, it occurs at all seasons of the year. Proper refrigeration is the U. S. Department of Agriculture's answer to the prevention of food poisoning.

His doctor has pronounced him in good shape after a long convalescence from a heart condition, he said, enabling him to continue in his present position. The main office staff will continue to be under the direction of Jonas Lehrer, office manager, and will include Mrs. Elizabeth Baldwin, Mrs. Joan Rabin Levy, Mrs. Alice Van Landingham, Mrs. William Masonic, and Mrs. Janette Johnson.

The new radish operation, now being installed in the main Rabin packing-house here, will include washing, grading, packing, weighing, packaging, sealing, and delivery to the cold storage room, in a continuous process. Belt line elevators, and exact weight scales are already in place. The cold storage room is of a three-car capacity.

Said Rabin, summing up the vast expansion, "We will be the selling agency for the growers of each community and will join in local operations but plan to give each grower the service we're known for in the Glades. Our reputation for wide distribution will be enlarged. We will serve the 48 states and Canada." Among the company's plans for the future, said Rabin, are to go to pre-packaging wherever possible, as chain stores, super markets, and the consumer require.

GAINESVILLE — Two of the inbred lines which go into the parentage of the double cross hybrids Dixie 18 have been released by the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, according to Dr. Fred H. Hull, head of the department of agronomy.

The two Florida lines, P6 and P4, together with G112 from Georgia and L578 from Louisiana, comprise the parent lines for Dixie 18, which was released in 1948 by the Georgia Coastal Plain Experiment Station and has been the most widely grown hybrid corn in Florida and the southeastern coastal plain area since then.

Dr. Hull understands that the Georgia and Louisiana lines are being officially released also by the agricultural experiment stations of those two states.

The start of construction of Levee L-8 begins to close the gap in the complete levee encirclement of the rich farming lands of the Glades. All works shown in solid symbols are complete or under construction. The section of L-1 shown in broken line has not been constructed. However, existing high-water embankments along most of that stretch will serve as a temporary levee. The existing major canals in the area are shown in cross-hatched lines. They are being improved to serve as feeder canals for the pumping stations.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

...Makes a Man Healthy, Wealthy—and Tired!

From where I sit, we must have heard a million stories like that. But they show how some people assume their customs are the only proper ones. To most city folks getting up at 4:15 seems odd, because they don't do it. Just like some people don't think enjoying a glass of beer is "right," because they happen to prefer another beverage and haven't waked up to the fact that everyone has a right to his own choice.
